Greetings to Elk Point -- from Elk Point, SD

Greetings from the mayor and the Commercial Club president of Elk Point, South Dakota, USA, were brought to the Mayor and Council of Elk Point, Alberta, last Tuesday night, by quasi-official goodwill ambassador Sid Holthe, who recently returned from a visit to our namesake city south of the border.

Holthe brought with him a videotape of the sights and people of the 1670 resident community, which is located at the far southeast tip of South Dakota, in the fertile valley of the Missouri River. He reported a bright agricultural picture for the residents of that area, with excellent crop yields and high prices forecast.

Like our Elk Point, theirs is also interested in preserving history and heritage. Plans for a new heritage park are in the offing, and a mainstay of life in the American small towns of the past, the soda fountain, has been faithfully reconstructed in their modern drugstore.

After meeting with a number of residents in the 'other' Elk Point, Holthe indicated that interest regarding our area and way of life is high there, and at least one resident plans to make the trek northward to visit here. Holthe had taken an impromptu video of our town with him for their perusal, and plans to make a longer and more detailed presentation to send them, in the near future.

Holthe presented an Elk Point SD Quasquicentennial medallion, commemorating the community's 125th anniversary a few years ago, plus a Lions' Club pin and a souvenir cap, to Mayor Byron Mann on behalf of the City of Elk Point. Mann thanked Holthe for acting as our ambassador to the southern city.

Clandonald celebrates in the rain

JUST PIPING IN THE RAIN--It may have rained on Clandonald's Country Fair Parade, but it did little to dampen the enthusiasm of participants. Here, a hardy group of bagpipers carry on through the parade route puddles, although some resorted to wearing the Volunteer Fire Department's slickers to keep out the precipitation. Many of the activities planned for outdoors were moved into the arena, and the show, and fun, went on in spite of the weather.

By Shirley Osinchuk

Saturday, August 6, the rain was welcome, but it rained on our parade. In fact, the rain came down harder at 11 a.m.. That did not dampen the spirit of the day. The spectators parked all along the parade route, the pipers put on the volunteer fire department coats, and the show went on.

Deputy Prime Minister Don Mazankowski and his wife Lorraine rode in the closed convertible, then opened the fair and stayed to take in the entertainment on the stage.

Almost all events were moved into the arena, except the Dunk Tank which went unused. The kids found gold in the sand hills and hard working Ag Society members carried the hot hamburgers into the arena from the refreshment stand.

Leona Cusack prepared a barbecued beef supper, then later, the dance was held in the arena also.]

Anyone who stayed home because of the rain missed a day of fun.

AWARD WINNERS

Pat Huxley and Loretta Harsiuk received plaques in appreciation for organizing and running the flea market.

Hazel Greibel won the Seniors Award for Exhibits (donated by Gary and Elaine Etherington), and the Pioneer Skills Award (donated by the Clandonald Ag. Society). Senior runner-up was Eva Schneider.

Swimmers graduate at Whitney Lake

By Shirley Osinchuk

The weather cooperated, the water was 'warm', and the students were eager. All one hundred and eleven swimming students had a good two week session of lessons, sponsored by the Elk Point Red Cross and the Lions Club.

They began on July 17, directed by Pam Fuller, with Pam, Darlene Kozicky and Kathy Young teaching, assisted by practice teacher Michelle Peters.

There were classes in all levels from Moms and Tots, to Grey and White, and Life Saving, as well as a group of six adults swimming at their own levels. Working on a 'continuous evaluation' system, students can complete a color level, then go on to the next. There is no 'pass' or 'fail', just progress according to individual ability.

Scheduling always allows time for ten lessons, expecting a few days of poor weather. This year, there was only one cold day, and ideal beach weather the rest of the time, so the lessons were completed and a party day held before the long weekend. On Friday, July 29, cards and badges were given out at the Beach Party. Ball games in the water, obstacle races, treasure hunts, and a whipped cream fight filled out the afternoon. Then the cake! made and decorated by Pam and Darlene, washed down with lots of Kool-Aid.

Tentative date for next year's lessons is the last two weeks of July, beginning and ending on Fridays, to finish before the long weekend. Parents and weather seem to be more favorable at that time.

The instructors and swimmers really appreciated the sponsorship they received from the Elk Point Lions Club, as well as the storage shed and the piers.

The Parks and Recreation people also helped greatly to make the lessons a success by keeping the park and beach so clean, and testing the water frequently for temperature and disease.

All in all, it was a successful swim program.

TOP TREASURE HUNTERS—at the gala Beach Party which wound up ten days of swimming lessons at Whitney Lake, under the sponsorship of the Elk Point Lions Club and Elk Point Red Cross, display their water-safety-related prizes. The party also included presentation of report cards and badges, refreshments and an exciting whipped cream fight.

Town Council notes

Although by Alberta standards, we are far from a city, we are less than 300 people short of Elk Point, SD's population. Council was told that our official 1988 population as of June 30 totals 1391, a 7 percent growth from a year ago. An error was found in the previous unofficial count, which had the figure at 1313.

Council was asked for input into a proposed subdivision of a large parcel of residential land into 5 lots, north of the Borger subdivision. No problem was found with the concept, although the Town will ask that land for a continuation of 54 Street be dedicated from the parcel.

Accommodation in the Community Services Centre for students displaced by the current remodelling of Elk Point Elementary School will mean some disruption for present tenants of the building, Council was told. Six classrooms will be needed to accommodate the students, and user groups will be accommodated in other school facilities during the construction period. The FCSS and Further Education offices, along with the playschool and parent nursery facilities will not be disturbed by the temporary tenants.

Council voted to commit up to $1000 to host a tour and reception for five MLAs, Town Council, the Elk Point and District Historical Society and other invited guests, of the Fort George - Buckingham house historical sites in mid-September. The afternoon tour and program is being planned to promote the significance of the site and to garner the financial support of the provincial government for development of this important historical site, which could prove to be a major regional tourist attraction.

Elk Point's new Recreation and Culture Master Plan was given first and second readings at last week's meeting, with the final reading deferred for another two weeks for further scrutiny of the plan by Council.

Council was told that the water level in Elk Point's water reservoir is just 4 feet below the top, the highest level ever enjoyed at this time of year, indicating that there is no potential for a water shortage at this time.

Hire-A-Student closes office for summer

By Scott Prysunka

1988 Student Placement Officer

The Elk Point Hire A Student office is closing for yet another year. In the Elk Point area alone, 46 out of the 51 students registered found full-time employment, and the three odd jobbers registered, worked at the Hire A Student carwash and completed various odd jobs.

This summer the St. Paul and Elk Point Hire A Student offices placed over 385 students out of the 420 registered. This surpasses our last years' placements.

The Hire A Student carwash in Elk Point was a great success. Thanks goes to Maurice Lafrance of Tags Food and Gas for the use of his parking lot and water supply.

At this time, the Hire A Student staff would like to thank all of the employers in Elk Point for their support. Without you, the program would not have been a success. A special thanks goes to Pat Vincent and the town staff for their assistance with the Hire A Student program. The town of Elk Point alone, hired 21 full-time workers, which were all students. Finally, a big thank you to Vicki Brooker and Betty Way of the Lakeland Review for their support and coverage this summer of the Hire A Student program.

I would like to say it has been enormous fun and a great experience working in Elk Point for the past two summers.

Hope to see you all in the near future. Watch for the re-opening of Hire A Student in May, 1989!

HIRE-A-STUDENT--Placement Officer Scott Prysunka presents Elk Point Town Administrator Pat Vincent with a certificate of appreciation for his cooperation with the student employment agency over the past three years. Vincent noted that Hire-A-Student was the first government agency to set up a sub-office in Elk Point, and that more sub-agencies would be very welcome, especially if they are as well used by area residents as Hire-A-Student has been.

On this very special occasion of the 75th Anniversary

Of St. John the Baptist Ukrainian Catholic Church of Northern Valley

Sunday, August 14, 1988

The Mayor and Council on behalf of the residents of the Town of Elk Point join in to extend best wishes and congratulations.

May this joyous celebration contribute to the renewal of faith, as has the celebration, in 1988, of the millennium of Ukrainian Christianity.

Editorial

Remember the Elk Point Fair

Once again, the Elk Point Agricultural Fair is sneaking up on us very quickly. Only nine short days remain to get all those entries ready to go, to finish up the handicrafts, to polish up the creative writing, to mount the photographs, to pamper along the produce.

Some things, of course, have to wait for the last minute—the baking, the picking of fruits and vegetables, the arranging of flowers. That is all reserved for the last few, frantic hours before the loading of all the entries in the vehicle, and the careful drive over bumpy roads to town.

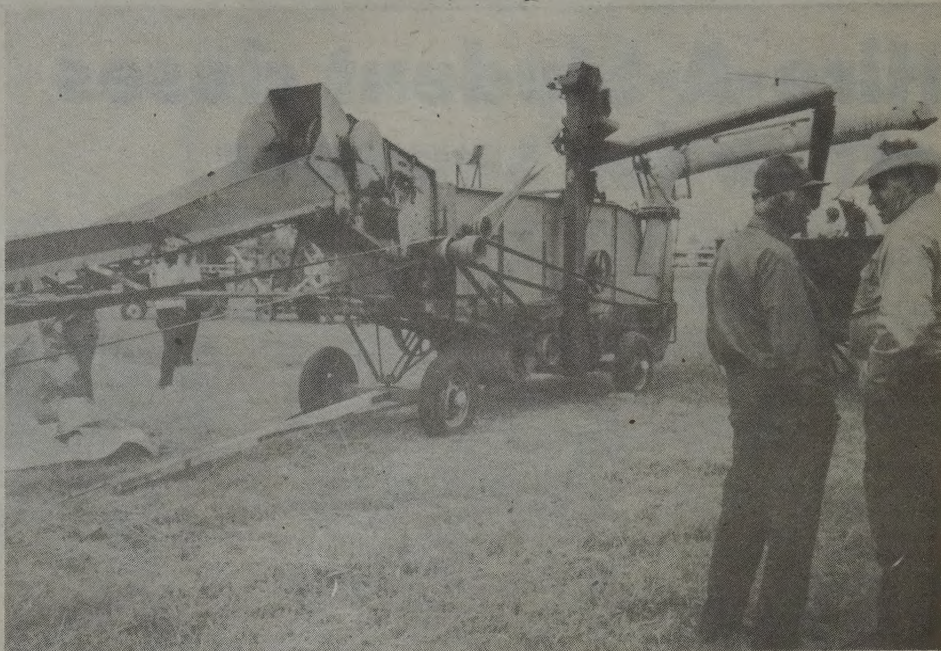

For all of us, it's probably not too late to take part—look through all those envelopes of snapshots, check the winter's crocheting, and what about that skirt you sewed with such care? Send the men out to fill sealers with their best grain, or to pick the finest heads from their 1988 crop. The kids probably have some handicrafts that will just fit in with the Junior Fair categories, and you can also send them out to check on the sunflowers and the pumpkin patch.

Does the young man of the family (or perhaps Dad or Grandpa) have a vintage automobile he is proud of? Tell him about the Shine'n'Show that is a new part of this year's fair.

Elk Point's Agricultural Fair exhibits have always been something for the whole community to be proud of, both in quality and quantity, often making those of other towns seem sparse by comparison. This is a tradition the Fair Board is eager to uphold, and 'bigger and better' is often mentioned in stories regarding our Fair.

Something for everyone—to exhibit, or even just to come and view—that's our Fair. See you there!

Wouldn't it be wonderful

By Irene Magnusson

I always turn my radio on as soon as I awake in the morning, and today I heard a song, Anne Murray was singing it, about how nice it would be to look in the morning papers and see that there had been no catastrophes, no plane crashes, no bombings, no starvations, no crimes...I didn't get the name of the song, but it sure sounded like a good idea.

Today we have terrorists bombing innocent people, babies, 80-year-old grandmothers, a father shot to ribbons in front of his family. These are not isolated incidents, they go on and on and on. The accidents, planes that go down, trains that derail, ships that sink, and all those countless highway smash-ups—perhaps these can be called accidents, and there is no way to prevent them, certainly not all of them. But the criminal acts, the bombings, shootings, stabbings, the wars and semi-wars are deliberate acts done by mankind against mankind, committed in rage and fear and revenge. Shame, shame, O mankind.

In the final analyses the violence seems to be the endless struggle of one person, one group, one race to force their ideas of what is right, their beliefs, their religions, their convictions, upon another person, or group, or country.

How dare they assume they are the only ones who are 'right'?

The details of some of these idiotic 'power struggles' would make a person laugh, if it wasn't so harmful. For example, this week our Prime Minister Brian Mulroney, dared to state where he stood on the abortion issue. He is against 'abortion on demand'. And he has every right to be. After all, he will never get pregnant, against his will, when he is broke, or sick, or worn out. He is not apt to get raped, or pregnant by incest, or at the age of twelve years, or even forty-five, and so he should be against 'abortion on demand'. To my thinking, he has a right to think what he pleases, to have very firm convictions on his own behalf—but I don't think he has a right to force his opinions on to others—even if he is Prime Minister.

Nor do I take much stock in the opinions of the other old men who sit in judgement and say 'This is how it should be for you!' Let those most closely involved have a say. In this subject, it is the women and girls who are most closely involved, it is their affair, their problem, they who will suffer. They are the ones who should have the vote, and they alone.

Of course they should do it in the most humane fashion, as early as possible, and only for good and sufficient cause. Abortion should not be used for birth control, there are other far safer methods. But it should not be denied to those in need.

Then there is the matter of religion. Who can possibly have the nerve to try to foist their beliefs upon others, who are not ready or willing to accept them? Still—there are countless millions who are constantly trying to do just that.

Then we come to the color of the human hide. What possible difference can our skin color have to do with whether we are decent human beings or not? Look out over a field of cattle, and some are red, white, grey, black, some have spots, some have long horns, some have none. Are any of them any better than the others? Of course, they are not. All are creatures of our Earth, all have as much right to their bite of grass as any other. So the struggle of one race of humans to hold down or degrade or injure another race of humans, is a completely wrong thing to do.

The human animal wants 'nice' things, we want softer things, and more luxury all the time. We have long since learned (or at least most of mankind has learned) that if we work hard and save our money we can get some of the nicer things, these softer spots to sit, bigger houses, longer cars, et cetera. What we can't seem to get through our thick heads is that we have no right to collect our 'nicer' things at the expense and welfare of other persons—whether they are next door or across the world. We have no right to take their share, by our connivances, or greed, or better education, greater access to technology, or by any other means. What we do have is a right to SHARE the goodies of this world with others, and no matter what the shade of their skin, or shape of their nose or frizz of their hair. They are ALL fellow human beings, sharing our communal world, deserving, every bit as much as we do, the good things of life.

I went to the Fair in Vermilion last week, and must say the Parade was spectacular, very imaginative, and I enjoyed every minute of it. There were lots of displays of machinery, and I'm sure of livestock, which I didn't have time to see, in one afternoon. My chief interest was in the crafts and flowers, etc., in the Agri-Plex. Unfortunately, I had forgotten about the 'cages', or I wouldn't have bothered to go.

There was possibly some elegant work there, imaginative and interesting, but it was not possible to see it properly with the chicken wire all over everything. The only table out in the open as it should be, was the vegetables, which I viewed with pleasure.

I suppose there is some reason for the 'cages', but I fail to see it. If those who made those creations didn't want anyone to see them—why not just keep them at home? It would be less frustrating. Again, if anything was so valuable that no one should touch it—that also should have been kept at home. I will certainly think twice about wasting time trying to view the displays at another Vermilion Fair.

This week it is time for the Seniors' Games in Vermilion, and I wish all participants success, and hope everyone has a great time. We went once, to Camrose, and it was most enjoyable.

Having mentioned the proposed trip my son Mel was to go on, down the Peace River to Fort Vermilion, I must report that the expedition was delayed, due to the group (who were building the steamboat replica) not being able to get ready in time for the August 1st celebrations. Mel's holiday will be used up, by the time they make another stab at it, later on. So I'm glad I stayed home and picked my raspberries, and didn't drive way up to Fairview again! But he was quite disappointed, I think. As were the adventuresome group.

The many days of clouds and showers we have been promised have not brought any moisture to my area (at the time of writing), and we could certainly use some. My only gain from it is not having to cut the grass quite so often; the raspberries are still putting out famously, as have the saskatoons and pincherries. And I see the chokecherries are ripening. Still have found no blueberries, and I fear they are now only a nostalgic memory, left over from the pioneer days, from the Great Depression and times of my youth. They sure were good, though...

Oh, that little animal in my garden is a half-grown rabbit, as brown and hungry as his mother.

The Summer Reading Program is still running strong! Last week, the elementary students were involved in bubble, straw and string painting. Due to the wind, we also managed to paint ourselves! But, all in all, the painting was a success. We have samples of each type of painting in the library, so come and check it out!!

The preschool program had a few alterations last week. The library staff had mural painting planned, but the weather didn't permit us to pick up our paint brushes! Instead, we made 'wild thing' puppets and put on a puppet show for everyone to see. Although the shows were completely impromptu, the preschoolers showed much promise in their acting abilities!

WHAT'S NEWS at the Library

Next week, weather permitting, both the preschool and elementary programs will be doing mural painting. The newspaper photographer will be on hand to take some pictures of the marvelous painting so be sure to look for it in the paper. Better yet, come down to the library and enjoy the painting first hand.

The movie was a bit of a surprise also last week. The library had wished to show Black Beauty, but it was not available. In its place, Born Free was shown. The movie was a very touching but funny film. Hopefully, Black Beauty will be shown on August 11 at 2:00 p.m.

The preschool program children were also introduced to the library's mascot last week. The puppet, named Cheeky, had the children laughing and clapping along with her. Hopefully, Cheeky will be visiting the library again really soon. Let's look forward to her next visit!

Doreen Mayner is currently on a well-deserved vacation. She will be absent from the library for two weeks, and has left in charge Michelle Whitlock and Kris Ann Maas. Of course, Library Board members and

Thank You

Card of Thanks

The Family of Ida Aarbo would like to extend their sincere thanks to all friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness and support during our time of bereavement.

Words cannot express our appreciation to those that helped us through this sad time, and for the many acts of kindness expressed with flowers, sympathy cards and donations.

We express our appreciation to Dr. L. Feddema, the Staff of the Elk Point Municipal Hospital and those that spent time at the hospital, your kindness will never be forgotten.

Thank you to Rev. Sam Donaldson, for the beautiful service, to the choir and organist. Special thanks are extended to the Pallbearers, the ladies who helped prepare the lunch and all those that brought food. Your generosity was overwhelming. A very special thank you to Tom Holliday for a job well done and to Yewchins Funeral Chapel Ltd. for their understanding and dedicated service.

Lakeland Ukrainian Catholic Parishes

By Bernice Poleschuk

Tonight we're proud to be a part
Of the Millennium Celebration in this town.
As part of the Lakeland Ukrainian Catholic Parishes
From ten areas around.

Father Royer, it can be noted, was a busy man
Trying to get us all together to plan.
Without him, of course it couldn't be done,
And so now we realize why he's always on the run.
Lloydminster to Iron River is a long way to go
Trying to please everyone he knows.

Each Parish is represented here tonight
Starting with Lloydminster, if I might.
Their Holy Spirit Parish has many members, we know
For a new church they built, just two years ago.

Of Iron River, St. John the Baptist Parish
They have good people, that we all cherish
Good food, celebrations, a wonderful time
They throw a Praznik that is just divine.

St. Olga's Parish in Vermilion has been raising monies
And looking for funds to be lent,
As they plan to build a new church
For all to attend.

In Bonnyville at the Descent of the Holy Spirit,
The people are always as busy as can be Making perogies to sell
To people like you and me.

A most beautiful church is the Assumption
Of the Blessed Virgin Mary at Glendon town
Where unique pillars and arches
And iconistas can be found.

And every second Sunday at the Holy Eucharist Church in Elk Point town
A Divine Liturgy is held, and parishioners come from areas all around

A customary thing that follows is lunch and coffee or tea
For members and guests and parishioners like you and me.

Ascension members are proud to tell
Of their 75th Anniversary in '87 that went so well,
Because of hard working members and dedication,
They were able to have such a wonderful celebration.

St. Mary's Parish at Angle Lake

The church on the hill
Has the smallest but most dedicated Congregation still.

St. John's the Baptist Parish at Northern Valley
Is proud to say

They are celebrating their 75th Anniversary
August 14 on a Sunday.

And the centre of all our Millennium celebrations
Are taking place at the Holy Spirit Parish of Derwent today,

And they can be proud and honored to say,
As a central parish, they had to go bits out of their way
To accomplish much of what we have already seen and still will see

Especially a new church sign which hangs so proudly.

And so all of us should be proud here today
To celebrate the Millennium in this way
So a round of applause is deserved for all
Have cheese, drink wine and have a ball.

LEE JOHNSON--Treasurer of the Elk Point and District Lioness Club, presents an Eclipse (electromed) TNS machine to Moira Holliday, Physiotherapist at the Elk Point Hospital, in the Therapy Room.

This is the second annual donation made by the Lionesses of major pieces of equipment. While it looks small, this little machine is capable of a great deal of pain-relief work. The Hospital has two others, but when there is someone in pain, it is nice not to have to wait while the equipment serves someone else first. These useful gadgets run around $500 each, and the new addition was gratefully accepted by Mrs. Holliday.

Summer play report

The Summer Play Programs have, in total, 49 children registered. The Summer Recreation staff has accommodated everyone who had previously been on a waiting list, and it is still not too late to inquire about registering more children.

Children enrolled in the Club 3 / 4 Program have enjoyed mornings in the park, and attending the Library Program on Fridays. Songs, games and crafts are always looked forward to by the children.

Along with the new games, crafts and movies at the Library on Thursday afternoons, Fun In The Sun participants have enjoyed their special activities such as the wiener roast in Markstad Park, the trip to the St. Paul Aquatic Centre, and the tour of Fort George Museum--thank you, Mr. Andrishak. A hiking trip to Ross Lake for Friday, August 12 is in the process of being finalized. Also in the planning process is a concert for the Heritage Lodge residents, later in August.

The Summer Recreation Staff would also like to extend a thank you to the parents providing the snacks, and to all of those people who have volunteered to drive for the special activities.

4-H members visit Montana

By Leanne Drobot

From July 13 to 26, 1988, forty senior 4-H members from the Northeast Region travelled to Montana. Four chaperones accompanied the group, which included seven members from the St. Paul District.

After three days of travelling, we arrived in Forsyth, Montana, where we met our host families for the next ten days. The forty four Albertans were spread throughout the Treasure and Rosebud Counties.

While a tour of Custer Battlefield and a farewell dance were planned group activities, we spent most of our time with the host families. The main idea of the exchange was for the members to experience a different way of life. Besides showing their delegate the sights of their community, the hosts were expected to share their lifestyle. It was interesting to see how their farms operated and how they compared to ours.

The members are now back home in Alberta and are anxiously awaiting next summer when we will host the Montana delegates and show them all that Alberta has to offer.

Butz 50th Anniversary

By Shirley Osinchuk

On November 7, 1988, Blanche and Georgie Butz will have been married for fifty years. On July 30, they chose a beautiful summer day to celebrate with all their family and many friends.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, they renewed their wedding vows at St. Columba Catholic Church in Clondonald. Father Stan Blaszkowski later sang them a song in Latin wishing them 'plurimus anos', many years, together.

Did these vows really change 'love, honor and obey' to 'love, honor and accept constructive criticism'?

The Dewberry Hall was filled with well-wishers who enjoyed a delicious supper catered by Mabel Garnier and family. Guests were from near and far, including some from New Richmond, Minn., Vernon, B.C., Vegreville, Mannville, Kelowna, Langley, Coquitlam, Edmonton and Calgary.

Some of the guests were proud to have been at the wedding in 1938. Al-

Ian Quick and Horace Smith were among those, and are still neighbors.

A very honored guest was Mrs. Effie Allen, Blanche's mother. Mrs. Allen died quietly four days later, at almost 98 years of age.

After supper, there were many songs, tributes and presentations to Blanche and Georgie. Their thirteen grandchildren and six great grandchildren each gave them a rose. There were scrolls from the County of Vermilion River, MLA Doug Cherry, Premier Getty, and the Prime Minister, and a framed copy of the poem 'Fifty Years Ago'. Many family members and friends sang, both appropriate songs and familiar melodies with words written especially for the occasion.

There was a surprise presentation of a scroll to Linnea and 'Jiggs' Goldsmith in honor of their 40th Anniversary. Jerry Butz, MC, made the presentation to his lifetime friends and neighbors.

Jerry's final toast summed up and added to all the tributes that had been made during the evening. Jerry, speaking also for his three sisters, Yvonne, Deanna and Linda, thanked his parents for their home and family life, for teaching them loyalty, honesty, trust, the work ethic, and about friendship without envy. He noted that they were wealthy in friends, noting the packed hall. They had taught their family integrity, how to love and earn respect, and they had taught by their own example. Jerry hoped that they, their children, would repay their parents by raising their own children by the same blueprints. Most important, he thanked them for choosing each other.

We do all wish Blanche and Georgie Butz 'plurimus anos'.

ANNIVERSARY COUPLE--Blanche and Georgie Butz celebrated their 50th Anniversary with a large gathering of family and friends.

Province introduces 'The Business Line'

By John Drobot, M.L.A.
St. Paul

The Business Line, a new toll free business information telephone service for Alberta businesses was introduced on July 22 by the Honorable Larry Shaben, Minister of Economic Development and Trade.

The Business Line was developed to provide Alberta's business community with easy access to information they require in order to operate their businesses successfully. The new service is manned by professional staff who will answer general questions on business including financing, marketing manufacturing, product processing and business programs that are available. If callers require additional information, the operators will refer them to the Department's business counsellors or the appropriate government department or business organization.

Businesses can access the line by dialing toll free 1-800-272-9675 or 422-9494 in Edmonton. The line will operate Monday to Friday from 8:30 to 4:30. All calls will be handled in confidence.

The government feels that the Business Line will assist existing Alberta businesses to develop and grow and also foster positive entrepreneurial attitudes which will lead to new business growth and continued diversification of the provincial economy.

A Recent Study Shows Albertans Are Taking More "Great Breaks"

Albertans are taking more holidays than ever in their home province as a result of Alberta Tourism's highly successful "Take an Alberta Break" campaign.

Extended for a third year, the campaign boosted tourist spending by more than $40 million during the year ending September 1987 and has affected the travel habits of more than a third of Alberta households.

The $2.5 million marketing campaign which includes advertising messages, the colorful Great Alberta

Breaks newspaper, and related promotions was launched in the Spring of 1986 to diversify the Province's resident market, which accounts for 48% of Alberta's total tourism revenues.

A recent study showed that the campaign can be credited with almost 273,000 more trips and close to 43,000 extended trips taken in Alberta, by Albertans, during the one year period studied. According to the study, 34.2% of Alberta households were influenced by the campaign in either the amount of travel they did or the nature of their travel. This year, some 34.9% of Albertans indicate they plan to travel more frequently while 51.3% plan to travel to new places within the Province.

This study proves that the Take an Alberta Break program is making a difference in the way Albertans travel. We are exploring our Province in greater numbers with greater frequency. This is very important for our economy because the money we spend in Alberta stays in Alberta.

The study concludes that the program is responsible for increasing in province travel as well as helping distribute tourism revenue throughout the Province.

Alberta Securities Commission Restructured

The Alberta Securities Commission (ASC) has been restructured and four new commissioners appointed.

The ASC has been split into a board and an agency as recommended in a discussion paper released last spring. The board has quasi-judicial authority and makes Commission policy. It also constitutes an appeal tribunal for any decisions taken by the agency, including decisions affecting franchises. It also has the authority to grant and revoke some exemptions relating to the Securities Act.

The agency, headed by the Chief of Securities Administration, will handle all licensing and registrations related to securities and franchises legislation and regulations. The agency will also monitor the conduct of companies and individuals governed by these statutes and recommend action to the board.

Along with the restructuring, administrative changes are also being introduced: More market standard officers and securities analysts have been hired and the offices will be relocated to the Alberta Stock Exchange Building.

The new commissioners include former Deputy Provincial Treasurer Mr. Chip Collins, Edmonton insurance executive Mr. Dennis Arker, Camrose lawyer Ms. Margaret Andreasson and Edmonton lawyer Mr. Frans Slatter.

These operational and administrative changes plus the appointment of the new commissioners should improve regulation of the financial industry in the province.

If you have any questions or concerns about these or any other provincial government matters call your R.I.T.E. operator and ask for 427-1833, or write me at 503 Legislature Building, Edmonton, Alberta T5K 2B6.

Two hundred come home to Allendale School reunion

By Shirley Osinchuk

Allendale School opened on June 1, 1908, in the English Church, then moved into the new school building in January of 1909. There was a minimum of furniture and no 'teaching aids', but the thirteen students were eager. Classes continued there until the school was closed in 1954.

The building is still sound, and served as the meeting point for almost two hundred people who came 'home' to Allendale on July 30 and 31, to remember.

The Allendale School, located six miles south and two miles east of Clandonald, on the Allendale Road, is not big enough to hold so many people at once, so the opening banquet and dance had to be held in the Clandonald Hall.

Mary Wilson and helpers prepared and served a delicious beef supper.

Lurline Hobbs welcomed all those in attendance. Some had come from as far away as Ontario. All seven of the O'Fee family were there. The oldest member was Mrs. Stella Mayers, age 95, who still lives in Vermilion. Her niece Ruth Butler presented a scroll to 'Aunt Stella'. A local historian, and Allendale son, Dr. Allan Ronaghan gave a history of Allendale.

The entertainment was unplanned, in that everyone was invited to share anecdotes and stories of the early days in Allendale. The Swanson Band, Kay and Beryl, former Allendale residents, played for dancing, then others also joined in the music.

On Sunday morning, the weather was beautiful again. Activities moved to the old Allendale School. An ecumenical church service was held at noon, attended by about 45 people.

Mrs. Nora Williamson, whose family came to the area in 1899 from Minnesota, and who is a sister of Mrs. Mayers, played the organ for the singing of old favorite hymns. Then she spoke about the first worship services. They were held in the school by Fred Miller, before he became a doctor and worked out of Elk Point.

Sister Kathleen O'Fee spoke about her school memories, and prayer. Sharon (Johnson) Harewood was the last United Church student minister. The church still stands two miles west of the school. Sharon remembered her summer of 1967 in Allendale and Clandonald, and encouraged everyone to be a part of the 'cloud of witnesses' for each one they meet. Shirley (Duncan) Osinchuk was the student minister in the United Churches in 1966. Besides leading the worship, she spoke briefly on the message in the old, favorite hymns that were being sung.

Then the ladies set out the pot-luck feast. One younger person in attendance was heard to whisper, 'Older people sure can cook!'

The afternoon was spent in visiting inside and out of the old school, with many 'I remember when we...' stories shared. The horseshoe pits were soon busy, and many more people came for part of the afternoon.

Later the campfire blazed and there was a wiener roast and more music and stories.

It's good to come home. Congratulations and thank you to the organizers.
